Miraculous Escape from Death.

EMMA M. Davis, an interesting child, 11 years old at Mrs. S. Parker's 113 Liberty street was horribly burnt by her clothes taking fire, so that the whole of her back, shoulders, arms and hands turned black, and the flesh shortly fell off, leaving the arteries and veins comway, were called and said it was impossible for the sufferer to survive, Dr. P. said any thing might be done to relieve her suffering while life remained. By the time Dr. Free. man arrived a salve had been applied by Mr. Parker, which as the case was hopeles Dr. F. Cents per paper. did not disturb. The acute agony was immediately relieved, but the child lay insensible, with the eyes fixed and immoveable, for sev. bare. The Doctor viewed the case with as. Portsmouth. tonishment aud admiration, but allowed no deviation from the constant use of the salve .-The gentlemen of the House, Messrs. Chism, Henderson. Wakefield, and others could hardly believe their senses in seeing the child live front day to day. The CHILD IS CURED, a sight to be seen, scarce a scar remains where fully healed! To any lady or gentleman who will received, and offered for sale at the happy to show the Wonder. Now who will be believe this? Alas, for the unfortunate. the story is almost too great for human credulity -but Dr. Freeman, 272 East Broadway ar a housefull of ladies and gentlemen at 113 Liberty street will confirm on oath, every word of it, besides, a sight of this most interesting dent. The promptings of humanity have brought out these witnesses. Will we ask, a family in this city, or country, risk themselves and their dear children to die in this on board, at the lowest rates of premium horrible manner by living a week without this have natural affections, of can they ever forgive themselves, if they loose a child by neglect of this Specific for Eurns? We leave them to answer, and beg all to go and see that child-a Living Wonder. AN OWER TRUE TABE.

The grey morning was already dawn. ing, when a miserable wretch turned in a dirty alley, and entering a low, rilinous door, groped through a narrow entry, and paused at the entrance of a room within. That degraded being had once been a wealthy man, respected by his neighbors, had long since learned to act for himsurrounded by friends. But alas! the sogence; and then to inebriety, he was now a common drunkard.

The noise of his foot steps had been heard within, for the creaking door was timidly opened, and a pale emaciated boy about nine years old, stepped out on the landing, and asked in mingled anxiety and dread asked in mingled anxiety "then, oh my God, I have murdered her and dread;

" Is that you father ?"

"Yes, wet to the skin; -- curse it," said the man - why ain't you abod and asleep.

The little fellow shrunk back at this coarse salutation, but still, though shaka ing with fear, he did not duit his station before the door:

"What are you standing there, garp. ing for ?" said the wretch,-" It's bad enough to hear a sick wife grumbling all day, without having you kept up at night to chime in the morning,—get to bed you imp,—do you hear?"

The little fellow did not answer fear seemed to have deprived him of speech; but still holding on to the door latch, with an imploring look, he stood right in the tion, even his brutal language was forway by which his parent would have to enter the room.

" Ain't you going to mind?" said the man with an oath, breaking into a fury, form his friends and the public, that " give me the lamp, and go to bed, or I'll break every bone in your body."

"Oh ! father don't talk so loud;" said the little fellow bursting into tears-" you'll wake mother; she's been worse all day, and hasn't had any sleep till now," -and as the man made an effort to snatch the candle, the boy, loosing all personal fears in anxiety for his sick mother, stood firmly accross the drunk-Irish linens, birdseye diapers, linens, silk ard's path and said, "you mustn'i,- you must'nt go in.' "What does the brat mean !" broke out the inebriate angrily-" this comes of leaving you to wait on your mother till you learn to be as obstinate as a mulewill you disobey me ? take that, and that, you imp," and raising his hand he struck the little sickly being to the floor, kicked aside his body, and strode into the dilapidated room: It was truly a fitting place for the home "ILE subscriber gives public notice, of such a vagabond as he. SECOND SESSION.

IN SENATE, Wednesday, April 6 .-Various petitions were presented asking for protection, among which, one by Mr. Tallmadge, numerously signed by importers and dealers of New-York in foreign goods for a protective tariff.

Mr. Crittenden presented resolutions of the Legislature of Kentucky, recommending amendments of the Constitutions restricting the powers of the President, terms, &c.

Mr. Williams presented resolutions of the Legislature of Maine, earnestly recommending the repeal of the Distribu-

Patents, introduced a bill "to promote the progress of the useful arts." The Loan bill was taken up, and Mr.

Wright spoke at length in opposition

Mr. Walker moved an amendment,

IN THE HOUSE, Mr. Warren introduced a resolution requiring the Secretary of War to communicate the outrages committed by the Indians, and by the U. S. troops, on the people of Georgia, which was adopted.

Mr. Moore, chairman of the committee on Private Claims, stated that he has been unable for six weeks to procure a quorum for the transaction of business on that committee, and that there was sufficient business to occupy their assiduous attention for six months, in which the country had a deep interest. He made the statement to relieve himself from the responsibility of this neglect.

Messrs Stuart, Ross and Brown, mem. bers of the committee, made their sevecommitte.

The House resolved itself into committee of the whole, and on motion of Mr. Wise took up the bill appropriating $250,-000 for the construction of an iron War Steamer, which was passed into committee.

The Appropriation Bill was taken up, and 40 sections passed.

The committee rose at 2 o'clock for want of a quorum. A call of the House was made, and 112 absentees being found and Superior. From the R. ligious Souvenir. The Quakeress Bride.

BY MRS. E. C. STEDMAN. O ! not in the halls of the noble and proud, When fashion assembles her glittering crowd; Where all is in beauty and splendour array'd Were the naptials performed of the mock Quaker maid.

Nor yet in the temple those rites which she took.

By the altar, the mitre-crown'd bishop and book ;

Where oft in her jewels doth stand the fair bride,

To whisper those vows which through life shall abide.

The building was humble, yet sacred to Him Before whom the pomp of religion is dim; Whose presence is not to the temple confined, But dwells with the contrite and lowly of mind

Her charms unadorn'd by the garland or gem, | sed also. Yet fair as the l'lly just pluck'd from its stem.

A tear glisten'd bright in her dark shaded eye, And her bosom half utter'd a tremulous sigh, As the hand she had pledged was confidently

And the low murmur'd accents recorded in beaven.

I've been at the bridal where wealth spread the board Where the sparkling red wine in rich goblets was pour'd ; Where the priest in his surplice from ritual solemn response was impressively

the fond sire in his thin locks of gray.

Give the pride of his heart to the bridegroom While he brush'd the big tear from his deep furrow'd cheek. And bow'd the assent which his lips might not speak.

But in all the array of the costlier scene, Naught seem'd to my eyes so sincere in its

No language so fully the heart to resign, As the Quakeress bride's-"UNTIL DEATH I AM TUINE."

AGRICULTURAL

BENEFITS OF DEEP PLOUGHING .-A gentleman some days since, while conversing with us upon the subject of agriculture, related the following instance in favor of deep ploughing .-He said that his father, some 25 years ago, bought a farm which had been nearly worn out; that the surface soil was almost a bed of floating sand with a clay subsoil; that after cultivating it in the usual way, of shallow ploughing for two or three years, he became vexed at the smallness of product, and determined to try the virtue of deep ploughing : that to effect this, he procured two double horse ploughs, and made one plough follow the track of the other, so that he penetrated the earth fully 12 inches, and threw up half that number of inches in depth, of the subsoil upon the top of the sand thrown down by the operation of the plough. This experiment was first tried upon a field of 20 acres, late in the fall, intended for corn the ensuing spring. The ground after being thus ploughed was harrowed and suffered to remain until sufficiently frozen to bear teams, when 50 bushels of lime to the acre was spread thereon. In the for they are Amazing Cheap-Cheap spring, the usual quantity of barn- Indeed, viz : yard manure was carted out, spread and ploughed in to the depth of four

Messrs Reed, Wing & Cutler-Gentlemen-I feel it a duty I owe the public, and es-pecially to hundreds of my fellow beings who are now suffering under different diseases of the langs, to give you a statement of the good effects I have experienced from the use of the Vegetable I ulmonary Baisam Having from my youth up been troubled with different complaints of the lungs, such as spitting of blood, dry troublesome cough, trequent hearseness; with severe fits of coughing, and indeed all the symptoms of consumption, and from time to time I have consulted several eminent Physicans, and have taken much medicine, but I received little or no relief, and at last they told me there was no help for me; that my case was beyond the reach of their medicines. In the spring of 1897 I was advised by a friend to try the Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam. I obtained two bottles, and on trial I was surprised to find so sudden and effectual relief which it is alone by the result of a fair trial. gave me; and after using it about 5 weeks all my complaints were entirely removed, and I was restored to good health. Since that time I have kept it constantly by me, in case of the appearance of any of the above complaints. I have known a large number of cases where all other medicines have failed of affordh.g any reliet, the Balsam was at length resorted to, & peedily effected a cure. I would therefore recommerd to every person that has any of erset (Mass., called the Hog the above complaints, on their first appearance cents-for sale by Mr. Moffat's agents get Neck Farm, situated about two to take the Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam, eral.
